

HONDA MOTORCYCLE PARTS CROSS REFERENCE

If you want to know what parts from the 78CB400A (or any other model for that matter) were used on other make/models, you can get an entire list generated.

1. From the powersedge home page, click on the "oem parts look-up" at the top OR in the left menu bar.
2. On the right side it says "Quick Parts Look UP". Select Honda from the "Brands" drop-down menu.
3. Then type in the SKU part number in the "Search for:" box - like 91306-413-000 for the oil filter case gasket. Leave the "Model" box blank.
4. Then click on the "Quick Look Up" button. A list of every Honda bike that uses the same gasket will come up!

NOTE: If you don't know the SKU number, then use the "OEM Part Diagrams Look Up by Model Fit" to the left first to obtain the correct SKU number.

I've used this procedure to find parts on eBay that will fit my 78 CB400A. Many of the sellers on eBay incorrectly list the 78 CB400A as being one of the bikes that the part they have for sale will fit.

Try it out! It is awesome.